

The 1968 Film Series

Medium Cool

October 22 | 6PM
DAMEN CINEMA
1 hr 51 minutes

In the 1968 film Medium Cool, TV news reporter, John Catselas, finds himself becoming personally involved in the violence that erupts around the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago. After finding out that his network has been helping the FBI find suspects through their reel tapes, he protests and gets fired only to find himself feeling more ethically responsible as a cameraman.

Join us for the screening of Medium Cool, starring Robert Forster, and directed by Haskell Wexler. The film will be followed with a post-screening conversation with Professors John Goheen (Film & Digital Media), and Elie Shermer (History).
