

In this issue:

- Helpful links
- Mark your calendars!
- Avoiding ableism in your classroom

To increase faculty engagement with and knowledge of the Student Accessibility Center, newsletters will be sent out twice a semester to keep you up to date on SAC initiatives and important dates and information.

Helpful Links:

Login to Accommodate: <https://luc-accommodate.symplicity.com/>

Testing information: <https://www.luc.edu/sac/faculty/testingandfinalexamaccommodations/>

CARE referral (for concerns relating to a student working through personal crises/situations that may interfere with their education): https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?LoyolaUnivChicago&layout_id=2

Academic Concerns Referral (for concerns relating to student attendance, coursework, and performance): https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?LoyolaUnivChicago&layout_id=3

Behavioral Concerns Team (BCT) referral (form concerns relating to worrisome behavior that presents a possible threat to the safety or well-being of oneself or others): https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?LoyolaUnivChicago&layout_id=1

Mark your calendars!

- If testing with SAC, students must schedule 7 days in advance
- If testing with SAC, students must schedule their finals by April 15th

Avoiding Ableism in Your Classroom

In this section we want to highlight ways that you can avoid ableism in your classroom. As a starting point we recommend that you review this helpful article: <https://www.rev.com/blog/speech-to-text-accessibility/avoid-ableism-speaking-about-disabilities>

We would also like to share some helpful reminders based on some frequently asked questions to our office.

- Be assured that approved accommodations were deemed appropriate after reviewing medical documentation and meeting with the student.
- When in doubt, reach out. We are available by phone, email and in person to provide guidance to faculty on how we can better support our students.
- Students are not obligated to share the nature of their disability with faculty.

LUC Student Accessibility Center

Email: sac@luc.edu and sactesting@luc.edu

Phone: 773-508-3700

Sullivan Center, Suite 117 6339 N. Sheridan Road Chicago, IL 60660