Biographical Sketch

Robert Carlton Broderick was born June 4, 1913, in Fond du Lac, WI, to Frank and Martha Broderick. He received his BA and MA degrees in English from St. Francis Seminary of Milwaukee, WI, in 1935 and 1939, respectively. On July 3, 1941, he married Virginia Joanne Gaertner, a Catholic artist. They made their home in Brookfield, WI.

From 1936 to 1943 he served as fiction editor of the Bruce Publishing Co. of Milwaukee, WI. In 1944 he was the managing editor of the Church Property Administration Magazine. From 1944 until his death in 1991 he worked as a freelance writer, publishing more than 25 works, primarily on topics related to the Catholic Church. During this period he often collaborated with his wife on writing projects, supplying the text while she created the artwork. His most well-known work is The Catholic Encyclopedia, first published by Thomas Nelson Publishers of Nashville, TN, in 1976, and revised and updated in 1987. Nearly 200 hundred original line drawings and illustrations were created by Virginia for its publication.

In addition to his literary work, Robert Broderick was involved in a number of social and religious causes. He served on the Board of Directors of the Holy Name Union from 1937-1947, was president of the Catholic Interracial Council of Milwaukee from 1959-1963, and was president of the Milwaukee Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Men from 1971-1977. In 1982 he was inducted, along with his wife, into the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre, the highest honor awarded by the Pope to both clergy and lay people.

In late April, 1991, Broderick was admitted to Milwaukee's Sinai Samaritan Medical Center for surgery to correct complications from an aneurysm he had suffered in 1979. He died of complications related to this surgery on April 30, 1991.
