

Biomedical Ethics Research

Summer Undergraduate Program

Mayo Clinic seeks applicants for its 2024 summer undergraduate program in empirical bioethics research. Up to six students will be selected to participate.

The Summer Undergraduate Program in Biomedical Ethics Research provides students with an unparalleled research experience to prepare them for careers in healthcare, science, law, or bioethics.

Each student is placed with a faculty mentor to contribute to a particular ethics research project, lasting approximately 10 weeks, beginning in late May or early June. In addition to conducting mentored research, students also receive a robust ethics education curriculum.

Interested applicants should apply to job posting 313554 (Rochester undergraduate intern), 313590 (Rochester graduating seniors), 316142 (Arizona undergrad & seniors) at jobs.mayoclinic.org by 11:59pm CST January 22, 2024.

Candidates must attach the following to the online application:

- Cover letter describing career goals and how biomedical ethics research relates to those goals
- Resume/CV
- 5-10 page writing sample, preferably on a topic in biomedical ethics
- Current, unofficial college transcript
- Two letters of recommendation from research mentors or undergraduate professors sent directly to Dr. Richard Sharp at bioethics@mayo.edu

QUALIFICATIONS

Successful applicants will be:

- Committed to pursuing a career related to biomedical ethics
- Able to work independently
- Proficient in written and verbal communication
- Highly motivated to learn new research methods
- Currently be enrolled in an undergraduate degree program
- Able to pass a background check and post-offer placement assessment prior to their start date

Visa sponsorship is not available for these positions. See SURF option below if you are an international student.

SURF OPTION

Students (including international students) who are interested in a future PhD or MD/PhD in Clinical and Translational Science (CTS) may also consider the SURF program through the Mayo Clinic Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences. Describe your interests in biomedical ethics as they relate to CTS in your application. The SURF deadline is February 1, 2024.
