GRADUATE STUDENT TERMS TO DEGREE STUDY

LAST UPDATED MAR 22, 2024

Introduction

- The purpose of this study is to evaluate the graduate student terms enrolled to degree for the different graduate degree programs at Loyola.
- Quinlan School of Business is not included in this analysis, there is a separate analysis for Quinlan.
- The study identifies only those students how have graduated from Loyola.
 - By using degree conferred cohort years a student's enrollment pattern is assessed to see:
 - The number of terms a student was enrolled at Loyola = “terms enrolled to degree”
 - The start and finish terms to establish “terms to degree”
 - Terms being analyzed are identified as Fall, Spring and Summer (Summer I & II are only considered once as a combined summer term). Hence, a year would comprise of these three terms.
- Each College/School graduate program is assessed to see how long a student takes to obtain their graduate degree. Certifications are not included in this analysis.
- The analysis looks at all degrees conferred from 2017-18 through 2023-24 as graduating cohorts.
 - Note: the 2023-24 cohort only analyzed those students finishing in Fall 2023 (as Spring and Summer terms has not completed at the time of this analysis).
- This analysis looks at each cohort individually and, as a whole, to determine the “average” time to degree for each graduate program.
- The accompanying graphs show the distributions of time to degree for all graduate degree programs, highlighting the 80% completion times for each graduating year.

Reflection Questions

- In what ways are these patterns
 - in alignment with curriculum design?
 - of enrollment contributing to expected student learning outcomes of graduating students?
 - reflecting the most efficient AND effective use of program resources?
 - contributing to optimal graduating student debt to student income ratios?
