Office Hours: Monday or Wednesday, 2-3pm or by appointment in Lewis Towers 909

Course Description

Can hip hop embody a culture that communicates positive social change into the world? If so, what academic perspectives and cultural practices advance this goal? These are the questions that drive this course. Grounded in Black studies, communication studies, social theory, critical cultural studies, political advocacy, popular culture, and the growing field of hip hop studies, we will investigate hip hop's evolving relationship with social change in the United States and globally. Particular attention will be paid to Chicago's hip hop scene and its dynamic contributions to community building, culture change, and advocacy. In addition to academic literature that will be part of weekly reading assignments, we will follow the spirit of hip hop by "sampling" a range of cultural production from its five elements of rapping, djing, graffiti, b-boying, and knowledge.

Loyola IDEA Objectives:

- Gaining a basic understanding of the subject (e.g., factual knowledge, methods, principles, generalizations, theories)
- Developing knowledge and understanding of diverse perspectives, global awareness, or other cultures
- Gaining a broader understanding and appreciation of intellectual/cultural activity (music, science, literature, etc.)

Participation in Our Cypher:

Hip hop culture from its origins has always been about community participation. Hip hop culture is also, more than ever, an American and global culture—therefore you, I, and us. One thing we will learn in this class is that if you are growing up or living in the 2000's, we are all shaped by hip hop culture, have an obligation to understanding its socio-cultural context, and have something to contribute. Therefore, your participation in the class cypher is encouraged and we will all benefit if we participate through words, questions, comments, dance, art, spiritual being, reflection—all in the name of hip hop culture.

Hip hop culture also originates from crews—groups of link-minded individuals expressing life, culture, fun, what's on their mind, and critiques about society. You will be placed in groups of 3-4 in Week 1 and as a crew you will work on several group assignments on top of your individual assignments. At the end of the semester, you will assess all your classmate's participation in your crew based on a peer evaluation sheet that will be given to you. This sheet will be considered when I grade your crew participation grade.

That said, regular attendance, being on time, staying the duration and participation in discussions and activities is required to pass this course. As you cannot participate when you are not in class, excessive absences will result in a failing grade. Two tardy marks will equal an absence and every two times you arrive late/leave early will also equal an absence. Students are expected to participate actively in class discussion, online Sakai discussion, and come to class prepared by doing assigned readings. Failure to do so will result in a "Fail" for this class. Discussion and debate are ways of assuring your understanding and adding valuable perspectives to a topic.

Deadlines are firm. Points will be taken off if your work is late. Written assignments must be submitted on Sakai and in stapled paper format at the beginning of class on the date indicated on the syllabus (unless adjusted by prior agreement with me).

One exception will be the weekly Sakai posts, which are to be submitted on Sakai by Friday at 10pm for each upcoming week's themes and readings. Weekly Sakai posts start the first Friday of the semester and you will be required to submit reflections for readings for week 2. Each Friday thereafter submit reflections for readings for subsequent weeks. Be prepared to present your ideas in the class cypher.

Our Cypher Ground Rules (adopted from Sacramento Area Youth Speaks):

Grading Policy:

Scale: A=93%+ A-=90+ B+=88+ B=84+ B-=80+ C+=77+ C=74+ C-=70+ D+=67+ D=64+ D-=60+ F=59-

'A' work signifies excellence in both design and implementation of work. This material can be considered outstanding and should be understood as far superior to the average effort. Simply completing the assignment prompt does not automatically constitute A quality work.

'B' work signifies above average work. Strong effort is involved and visible through clear organizational planning and attention to detail.

'C' work signifies average and adequate work. This grade is earned when material completes the minimum threshold of an assignment, even though conceptual, organizational or writing problems may exist.

'D' work signifies below average work. This is usually the product of either a substantial problem adhering to the nature of the assignment or a substantially problematic effort.

'F' work signifies an unacceptable level of work. This is usually the product of an incomplete assignment or a fundamental failure to engage the nature of the assignment.

In-Class Technology Rules:

Personal computers and wireless Internet are a key part of today's technological culture, but they also can distract you from the class discussion and dampen participation. You may bring your laptops to class for note-taking and finding hip hop culture examples to bring up in class, but please refrain from browsing the internet, updating your Facebook profile, playing games, instant messaging, shopping, etc. Although you may think you are being discreet, 90% of the time students engaging in such behavior give themselves away (through inappropriate facial expressions, lack of eye contact, out of sync typing, etc.). Use of computer in the classroom is a privilege. If you abuse this privilege, you will be marked absent for that class period and laptops may be banned from the classroom.

School of Communication Statement on Academic Integrity:

The penalties for academic dishonesty are a grade of F for the course and notification of the dean's office. All students must read the academic integrity policy of the School of Communication. If you have questions concerning acceptable practice, consult with me prior to submitting your work. (1) Never present another person's work as your own. (2) Always provide full citation information for direct quotations. (3) Always provide full citation information when presenting the argument, interpretation, or claim of another, even if you are paraphrasing.

Students with Disabilities:

Any student with a learning disability that needs special accommodation during exams or class periods should provide documentation from Services for Students with Disabilities confidentiality to the instructor. The instructor will accommodate that student's needs in the best way possible, given the constraints of course content and processes. It is the student's responsibility to plan in advance in order to meet their own needs and assignment due dates.

This syllabus and the course schedule is subject to change by the instructor.
