

Predoctoral Fellowship Application Incentive

The Graduate School at the Health Sciences Campus offers a $250 incentive to biomedical sciences graduate students who submit a predoctoral fellowship application for extramural peer-reviewed funding. Incentives will be processed automatically following submission through the HSC Office of Research Services. A maximum of two incentive payments will be made to each student and only one payment will be made per academic year. Please contact Margarita Quesada (mquesad@luc.edu) in the Graduate School office if you need more information.